INTRODUCTION

The Fox Readers give an especial opportunity for the socialized recitation. In these lessons the teacher and pupils meet together and work out the problems of sound and symbol, of thought getting and thought giving in a happy free companionship.

The dramatic form into which these fine old tales have been rendered reveals the social bearing which they have. The reading of them awakens a social sense within the class, and compels a social attitude on the part of the pupils.

The Phonic Exercises are intended to fix the sound elements in the child's mind, and to help him vocalize them properly.

The Phrase Exercises make provision for reviews of phrase forms and assist in developing ease and fluency in reading.

The Language Exercises familiarize the pupils with the different language forms in the early readers and prepare for systematic language lessons in the later books.
