PREFACE.

This book has been prepared mainly for the use of young men and young women who are pursuing a regular course of religious study, though it may be found available for general use. Such should have an acquaintance with the great religions of the world: this is given in the first part of the book. They should have a knowledge of the churches about them: this is given in the second part. These religions and sects are our neighbors with whom we are to live.

Young people should also know their own church and faith well: this is described in the last part. For this some history of the Unitarian Church is given, in order that one may get his bearings and appreciate the sources and the cost. Some plain and positive statements of belief are given; and then there are a few chapters devoted to the working forces of the church. It is hoped that in this way the young people will be prepared for appreciative understanding and for efficient work in their church.

In the Teachers' Edition suggestions are made for methods of teaching and for more extensive study by means of the larger works.
