THE object of this book is to present concisely, clearly, and in logical order the most important elementary facts in Physiology and Hygiene. Sufficient anatomy has been given to render the physiology intelligible.

As far as possible, technical language has been avoided. The author has aimed to make each paragraph complete in itself, embracing a definite subject.

The "Syllabus" and "Questions for Review," it is believed, will be found useful not only in the regular course of instruction, but also for examination purposes.

CHAPTER I.

PAGE

Introduction . . . . . 11

Physiology, 11. Anatomy, 12. Hygiene, 12. Tissues and Organs, 12. Divisions of the Body, 13. Cavities of the Body, 13. Coverings of the Body, 15. The Lining Skin, or Mucous Membrane, 16. Glands, 16. Connective Tissue and Fat, 16.

CHAPTER II.

The Bones . . . . . 20

The Skeleton, 20. Number of Bones in the Skeleton, 20. Structure of Bone, 20. Composition of Bone, 22. The Backbone, 22. General Facts about the Bones, 23. Movements of the Spine, 26. Movements of the Head, 26. Uses of the Bones, 26. One-sided Development, 27. Diseases of the Bones, 27. Softness of the Bones in Early Life, 28. Brittleness of the Bones in Old Age, 28. Broken Bones, 28.

CHAPTER III.

The Joints . . . . . 33

A Joint, 33. The Joint-Juice, or Synovial Fluid, 33. Immovable Joints, 33. Movable Joints, 34. Ligaments of the Joints, 34. Pressure of the Air upon the Joints, 35. Unusual Motion in Joints, 35. Uses of the Joints, 36. Injuries of the Joints, 37.

CHAPTER IV.

Muscles and Movements . . . . . PAGE 40

Motion, 40. The Machinery of the Body, 40. Movements of the Limbs, 41. Muscle, and the Muscles of the Body, 41. The Names of the Muscles, 43. The Different Parts of a Muscle, 43. The Tendon of Achilles, 43. The Structure of Muscle, 44. Contraction of Muscles, 44. The Biceps Muscle, 44. Levers, 45. Levers of the Third Order in the Limbs, 46. Action of the Muscles in general, 46.

CHAPTER V.

Muscular Exercise . . . . . 50

Exercise, 50. Muscular Exercise and Muscular Contractility, 50. Effect of Exercise on Muscle, 51. Effect of Exercise on the Bones, 51. Effect of Exercise on Various Tissues and Organs, 51. Results of Systematic Exercise, 52. Deformities Prevented or Corrected by Exercise, 53. Fitness, Variety, and Moderation in Exercise, 53. Time for Exercise, 54. A Sound Mind in a Sound Body, 54.

CHAPTER VI.

Modes of Exercise . . . . . 58

Physical Educational Exercise, 58. Systematic Exercises without Apparatus, 58. Movements to Promote general Suppleness, 59. Gymnastic Apparatus, 61. How to Sit and Stand, 62. Out-door Exercises, 62. Walking, 62. Running, 63. Swimming and Bathing, 63. Rowing, 63. Riding, 64. Development of both Sides of the Body by Exercise, 64. Open-air Games or Recreative Exercises, 65.

CHAPTER VII.

The Nervous System . . . . . 69

Regulation of the Machinery of the Body, 69. The Parts of the Nervous System, 70. Gray and White Matter of the Nervous System, 70. Divisions of the Brain, 70. Membranes of the Brain, 71. Functions of the Brain, 72. The Spinal Cord, 73. The Nerves, 73. The Cranial Nerves,

Description of the Course of the Circulation, 123. The Circulation through the Liver, 124. The Spleen, 124.
How the Tissues are Supplied by the Blood, 124.

CHAPTER XII.

Food . . . . . 128

Why we Eat, 128. Food, 128. Digestion, 129. The Different Classes of Food-stuffs, 129. Remarks on the Different Kinds of Food, 130. Quantity of Food Required, 131.
Cooking, 131. When and How to Eat, 132. Drinks, 132.
Pure Water, 132.

CHAPTER XIII.

Digestion . . . . . 137

The Organs of Digestion, 137. What Takes Place in the Mouth, 137. Digestion in the Stomach, 138. Digestion in the Small Intestine, 139. Chyle, 140. Absorption, 140.
Lacteals, 141. The Thoracic Duct, 141. Lymphatics, 142.
Absorption directly into the Blood, 142. The Large Intestine, 143.

CHAPTER XIV.

Breathing . . . . . 147

The Air we Breathe, 147. The Blood needs Oxygen, 147.
The Chief Organs for Breathing, 148. The Part played by the Nose in Breathing, 149. The Windpipe, 149. The Voice-Box, 149. The Vocal Chords, 150. The Lid of the Larynx, 151. Bronchial Tubes and Air-Cells, 151. Inspiration and Expiration, 152. The Lungs and the Chest,
152. The Diaphragm, 152. Stationary Air and Tidal Air, 153. How the Oxygen of the Air gets into the Blood, 153. Oxidation, 154.
