LITTLE HEROES.

“THE WICKED FLEE WHEN NO MAN PURSUETH, BUT THE RIGHTEOUS ARE BOLD AS A LION.” — Prov. xxviii. 1.

THESE are, I think, very few things which make a little boy so angry as to be told that he does not bear pain manfully, that he is timid and full of fear; in short, that though little in size, he is a very great coward. And yet how many little children there are, who, while they like to be thought brave and bold, persevering and resolute, yet have not enough courage to set to work with might and main to learn a lesson which looks a little harder than usual, or to take a nasty medicine which they know is for their good!

Perhaps you think it is not worth while to be courageous and persevering about such little things as these ; but I very strongly suspect that if you are not brave in little things you will be a coward in great ones. If the little school-boy that I
