CORRESPONDENCE.

---

TUSKALOOSA, ALA., June 8, 1875.

MR. THOMAS MAXWELL: —

Dear Sir, — At a regular meeting of the "Druid City Literary Club," held last night, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: —

Resolved, By the "Druid City Literary Club," that the Poem read before us by Mr. T. Maxwell on the 12th of May last, contains, in our judgment, many interesting truths and traditions, and many just reflections and wholesome maxims, aptly and beautifully expressed, and we are unwilling that such a production shall pass away with a single reading before us.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to express to Mr. Maxwell our high appreciation of his Poem, and the pleasure his reading of it afforded us, and to confer with him with a view to its preservation, and also to its publication, in such manner, and in such form, as he and they may think most suitable.

Heartily concurring in the views and wishes expressed in these resolutions, and hoping they will meet with your concurrence also, the committee will be pleased to confer with you on the subject whenever it may suit your convenience.

JOHN SNOW,
W. MOODY, } Committee.
W. C. JEMISON, }
