THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE MORAL FEELINGS.

By JOHN ABERCROMBIE, M.D., F.R.S.E., First Physician to his Majesty in Scotland.

John Murray, Albemarle Street.

Rev. John Riland's Publications on Church Reform.

I.

ECCLESIE DECUS ET TUTAMEN; the EXTENSION, SECURITY, and MORAL INFLUENCE of the UNITED CHURCH of ENGLAND and IRELAND AUGMENTED by a REVISION of its ECONOMY, DISCIPLINE, and RITUAL, &c. &c. Price 6s.

"I should not be doing justice to a most ingenious, learned, and pious work, if I did not acknowledge the great obligations I have been under, particularly in my Letter (to his Majesty) to the above very valuable volume. It is written in a large and catholic spirit, with great fervour and great spirituality."—Lord Hentley.

"The most extraordinary work, for the extent, candour, and boldness of its concessions, perhaps ever yet published by a Clergyman. This able, pious, and intrepid writer has gone through the whole Prayer-book with the zeal, spirit and courage of a Reformer. Happy would it be for the Church of England if his plan of Reform could be adopted."—Rev. J. A. James.

"Mr. Riland has stated with a masterly hand the numerous alterations and amendments which not only the times require, but which are essential to the self-respect and usefulness of the clergy."—Rev. R. Taylor (Clifton, Campville).

"Mr. Riland appeals to the discontent, disappointment, perplexity, and aspiration after Reform in every branch of the Establishment, felt by numbers, from the early days of the Fathers of the English Church down to more recent times; and he affectingly, and I believe truly, asserts, in the fear that his book should call down animadversion, that if the appeal be made to the jury of his country, his crime (if his opposers term it so) will principally consist in the act of having written more than others, and in having clothed with words the thoughts of a thousand bosoms."—Rev. George H. Stoddart.

"Mr. R. is a writer of no ordinary attractions. His style is pure and energetic, and sometimes exceedingly beautiful. He treats every part of his subject like a philosopher, whose mind has been thoroughly disciplined in the school of Christ. The distinction between the nominal and real friends of the Establishment is admirably drawn. Mr. R. has done essential service to the Church of which he is a member."

SERMONS, by SAMUEL WARREN, LL. D.

"It is one prominent feature of this volume that there is pleasing equality in the several Discourses, both as to substance and style. There is an interest kept up throughout, and the selection of topics presents a great variety as to doctrine, experience, and practice; whilst there is no inferiority in one, which diminishes the pleasure enjoyed, or impression produced, by another; the whole is admirable and excellent as to quality and style, calculated to edify the body of Christ, call sinners to repentance, advance the kingdom of the Redeemer, and bring glory to God in the highest."—Christian Advocate.

"These sermons combine the accuracy, elegance, and force of Blair, with a depth and vitality of doctrine which that literary divine could never lay claim to."—Imperial Mag.

THE VERACITY of the BIBLE, argued from undesigned Coincidences to be found in it, when compared in its several parts.

By the Rev. J. J. BLUNT.

1. VERACITY of the FIVE BOOKS of Moses. Post 8vo. 5s. 6d.
2. VERACITY of the OLD TESTAMENT, from the conclusion of the Pentateuch to the opening of the Prophets. Post 8vo. 6s. 6d.
3. VERACITY of the GOSPEL and ACTS. Post 8vo. 5s. 6d.
4. PRINCIPLES for the PROPER UNDERSTANDING of the MOSAIC WRITINGS STATED and APPLIED. Post 8vo. 6s. 6d.

“Mr. Blunt has already signalized himself by his work on the Acts of the Apostles, as a very successful disciple of Dr. Paley, in the management of that species of Christian evidence, which arises from the discovery of undesigned evidence of revealed truth. This volume cannot fail to increase his reputation. It is both a pleasing and instructive work, and is creditable to the talents, learning, and piety of the respected author.”—Evangelical Magazine, June, 1850.

“We think Mr. Blunt’s clever and very ingenious web of argument will be read with pleasure, as it certainly must with profit.”—Monthly Review.

London: John Murray, Albemarle Street.

This day are published, the Taird Edition, price 10s. 6d.

FRANKS’S CHRISTIAN PSALMODY.

Just Published, by Messrs. Rivington, and Messrs. Simpkin and Marshall, London, price 3s. 6d.

CHRISTIAN PSALMODY; comprising the BOOK of PSALMS, arranged in 305 suitable Portions, and 592 Congregational Hymns.

I. On subjects suggested by the event, songs, types, prophecies, &c. of the Old Testament.—II. On the history, doctrines, and duties of the New Testament, arranged in the order of the successive Seasons and Sundays of the Liturgical Year.—III. For miscellaneous occasions.—IV. From the Apostolical Prayers and Doxologies. Compiled for the use of the Churches in Huddersfield, by the Rev. J. C. FRANKS, M.A. F.C.P.S., Vicar of Huddersfield, late Chaplain of Trinity College, and Hulsean Lecturer in the University of Cambridge.

The principle of this Collection, already adopted by seven Congregations, is to exhibit the spirit of the whole Book of Psalms; and to provide, as the most appropriate Supplement to it, Scripture hymns or passages similar to the Book of Psalms, especially the Apostolical Prayers and Doxologies, few of which have hitherto been prepared for congregational singing, though evidently the most comprehensive devotional part of the New Testament.

Congregations and schools will be supplied at the cost price of this Edition, viz. 3s. in sheep, on application to the Printer, Mr. Kemp, Bookseller, Huddersfield.

FOR FAMILIES AND YOUNG PERSONS.

LETTERS on the DIVINE ORIGIN and AUTHORITY of the HOLY SCRIPTURES.

By the Rev. JAMES CARLILE, Minister of the Scots Church, Dublin.

"To say that we have been gratified by a perusal of these 'Letters' would fall very short of the idea which we should wish to convey of their merit and utility. We would recommend every father of a family to place them without delay into the hands of his children, as one of the best means of enabling them to form a just estimate of the authority of Scripture, and to give, without hesitation or reserve, a well-grounded 'reason of the hope that is in them.'—Christian Remembrancer, Sept. 1833.

"It is a strong recommendation of the Work that it does not presuppose the reader to be an infidel or a sceptic; but while it supplies an answer to the plausible sophistry of unbelievers, it is more especially designed and calculated to 'unloose to those who already reverence and love the Bible as the Book of God, a portion of the surpassing wisdom which has been employed in its formation.' The tendency of the Work to produce, not simply conviction, but the fruit of genuine conviction—piety, is much more direct than that of many valuable works which seem to concede that the truth of Christianity is questionable, by starting, as it were, in the course of argument, from infidelity. * * * We cordially recommend the publication as excellently adapted for its purpose, and a valuable addition to the library of any young person."—Eclectic Review, Sept. 1833.

"The Reviewer begs to recommend these volumes to his readers. * * * It is to be hoped that the book may have a good deal of circulation, and tend to effect the object for which it was written—the reception of the truth."—British Mag. Aug. 1833.

"Since Dr. O. Gregory's Letters made their appearance, there has been nothing answering to these volumes; and between these two publications there are marked and commanding differences, which render it impossible that they should ever supersede each other."—Evangelical Mag. Aug. 1833.

"These Letters are beautifully written, and embody a large portion of able reasoning in defence of the Scriptures as a revelation from God."—Methodist Mag. Oct. 1833.

"A compendium of proof invaluable to the youthful student and general reader. * * * As attractive in style as it is forcible in reasoning. * * * It merits a distinguished place among writings on the Evidence of Christianity."—Baptist Mag. Dec. 1833.

BERTHA'S JOURNAL; comprising a variety of interesting information for Young Persons. Arranged for every Day in the Year.

"I am reading 'Bertha' with the utmost avidity. I can scarcely take my attention from this, the best of all juvenile compilations. I should like to know who is the writer."—Rev. George Crabbe.

"An excellent little work."—Capt. Basil Hall, Fragments.

"We can recommend the work most earnestly to those who wish to place an interesting book in the hands of youth."—Asiatic Journal.

"It is with sincere pleasure that we have perused these volumes, which, with all the clearness and accuracy of Mrs. Marcet's justly celebrated conversations, have a familiarity and elementary simplicity about them that at once qualify them for, we had almost said, the exclusive perusal of more advanced children."—Monthly Review.

"Of all the little works contrived of late years for the purpose of conveying information to young folks in an attractive manner, this, we think, will prove by far the most successful."—Monthly Magazine.

"An admirable production of its class."—Court Journal.

"An interesting present for young people. The book is extremely cheap, only half-a-guinea for three volumes!"—Spectator.
