PREFACE.

THIS memorial volume is printed, by the family of Dr. Bradlee, for private distribution, to preserve the story of his life, and to suggest many precious memories of it to those who were within the sacred circle of his immediate fellowship.

Dr. Bradlee kept no journal; but in various books he recorded the main facts of his life, and these have been given in chronological order, with illustrations from letters and other writings.

The chief object of the book will be attained if it shall help those who knew him best to preserve a clear memory of a life which was a perennial fountain of helpful words and deeds.

The work of preparing the volume has been done by an intimate friend of Dr. Bradlee, who for nearly thirty years was admitted to a fellowship and sympathy which are held in grateful remembrance as the source of much that has made life worth living.

ALFRED MANCHESTER
