

THE AMERICAN TRADITION

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9781760572822

The American Tradition by Clarence B. Carson

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

CLARENCE B. CARSON

THE AMERICAN TRADITION

THE AMERICAN TRADITION

by

CLARENCE B. CARSON

Professor of American History
Grove City College, Pennsylvania

The Foundation for Economic Education, Inc.
Irvington-on-Hudson, New York 1964

The Publisher

THE FOUNDATION FOR ECONOMIC EDUCATION is an educational champion of private ownership, the free market, the profit and loss system, and limited government. It is nonprofit and nonpolitical. Sample copies of the Foundation's monthly journal, The Freeman, as well as a list of books and other publications, are available on request.

Published March, 1964
Copyright 1964, by Clarence B. Carson
Printed in U.S.A.

To Myrtice

Contents

CHAPTER	PAGE
PREFACE . . . . .	xi
1. (Introduction): Lest We Forget . . . . .	1
Societies decay from within—Role of forgetfulness in disintegration—Distortions of the American tradition—Pride of intellectuals—Restatement of the central tenets of the tradition.
2. There was an American Tradition . . . . .	20
Focus for discovering the tradition—Outline of three traditions in America: authoritarian, liberal, and collectivist—That the central American tradition was liberal in the nineteenth century sense.
3. Of Constitutionalism and Higher Law . . . . .	33
Two aspects of constitutionalism: formal and substantive—Origins of American constitutionalism—Limited government the central purpose of constitutions—Institution of basic law in America—Alteration and undermining of Higher Law.
4. Of Republican Government . . . . .	53
The United States is a constitutional federated republic—Essence of a republic: popular, representative government—Historical demonstration and the instituting of governments—Impact of latter-day ideologies.

CHAPTER	PAGE
5. Of Federalism . . . . .	70
Misconceptions of sovereignty—Power dispersed in America in a federal system—Origins and development of federalism—Union and diversity—Collectivist assault upon federalism.
6. Of Individualism . . . . .	89
Centerpiece of American way of life—Emergence from medieval corporatism—Entry into the American mainstream—Protections of the individual—Threatened submergence by collectivism.
7. Of Equality . . . . .	106
Numerous conceptions of equality—American tradition viewed against a background of hereditary and organized inequality—Twin conceptions: equality before the law and an equality of rights—Neutrality of government essential—Present-day efforts to enforce equality and the inherent inequality of such attempts.
8. Of Rights and Responsibilities . . . . .	126
Wild growth of rights and responsibilities in the twentieth century—Confusion about these and the relationship between them—Natural rights and "natural" responsibilities—New "rights and responsibilities" crushing out older rights and responsibilities.
9. Of Voluntarism . . . . .	144
Description of the voluntary way contrasted with compulsion—Changing ideas about what should be compulsory and what voluntary—Voluntarism came to embrace most activities in America—Success of this method—Decline of voluntarism.

CONTENTS

ix

CHAPTER	PAGE
10. Of the Civilizing of Groups . . . . .	163
Prevalence of group violence and police brutality— Delusions about the nature of groups—American tradition for civilizing groups—Departures from it by the empowering and recognizing of groups.
11. Of Free Economic Intercourse . . . . .	183
Conditions of free economic intercourse—Mercan- tilistic restrictions in early America—Extension of freedom—Adoption of institutions to protect free- dom—From "underdevelopment" to abundance under freedom—Onset of neo-feudalism and neo- mercantilism at the present day.
12. Of Internationalism . . . . .	205
Current misconceptions of traditional American for- eign policy—Nineteenth century internationalism— Twentieth century interventionism—Imperatives of American internationalism.
13. Of Virtue and Morality . . . . .	228
Puritan virtues castigated—Listings of American virtues—Connections between religion and moral- ity—Moral order in the universe—Formation of the tradition—Undermining of the tradition.
14. To Agree To Disagree . . . . .	244
Essence of the American tradition—Conditions of disagreement—Agreement within which disagree- ment is possible—Attempts of intellectuals to solve remaining problems, and the resulting catastrophes —Agreement to disagree disappearing from America.	