STAR-FLOWERS,

A POEM OF THE

WOMAN'S MYSTERY

BY

THOMAS LAKE HARRIS.^o

The Secret Wisdom shews to men,
As the Lost Pleiad beams again ;
Lifting her pure, transfigured grace,
Warm from the Solar God's embrace.

PRÉFACE.

The MOTHER shook Her breasted sheaves:
Borne through the palpitating leaves
Of this, Her Song, the fragrance weaves.

Sacred as Love and sure as Fate,
The holy numbers waft full freight
Of promise, where Her own await.

Long years I travailed for the birth;
Now, as a Word-babe, beaming forth,
From Wisdom's brow, it finds the earth.

Cradled in griefs, bedewed by tears,
Its infant hands hold fiery spears:
They pierce, they burn, till morn appears.

'Twas in the sacred Passion-week
This Word-babe oped blithe lips to speak,
And fashioned wings, Love's own to seek,—

God's own,—the gentle, pure and brave;—
It stands awaiting; so to crave
Fit access where they toil and slave.

Blessed are ye, who shall be found
E'en as this song, from Love's profound,
Full summer-sweet, for blessings crowned.

DEDICATION.

NINE months I lay in a Lady's womb:
She folded me all in her laughing bloom:
She hallowed me while I filled and fed,
From the nectar-wells of her motherhead.
Wisely and kind she planned for me
In the antenatal infancy.
Now to mine age return the hours
I slept in her life's embosomed bowers,
Until the melodies rise and well,
From joys that grew in her blossom-bell.

To-night danced round me the Sacred Nine,
A sister-band in the Mother-twine.
The charm, the spell their motion caught
Have led me again where the Mother wrought.
I feel, as the soul in verse takes wing,
Of Motherhood as a holy thing;
A state that in woman forms and grows,
From birth, through time, to the shadowed close;
A Good that is in her as Truth in man;
A form from the Infinite marriage-plan;—
A power to shield, to build and bless,
That sways by her sceptre of queenliness;—
A power that shapes from the Bridal Word;
That toils through the years for a hope deferred;—
A power its path through the gloom that plies,
And cheers and illumines and sanctifies;—
A power that, did its full force unfold,
Would gather to man for his age of gold,

And bear him aloft, when the years are dead,
To bowers that circle God's marriage bed.

If I have said, as a man may say,
Of mysteries held in the Woman's Way,
The words but as flights of song-birds flit;
For the wealth of her loving is infinite.
My infant breast as a lyre she strung:
Her musical bells in my heart she rung:
The chorded hands of my sentient powers
She ranged as the breaths of her passion flowers.
Ere I was born to the outward loss
She signed my brow with her passion-cross,
Baptized me all in her wells of flame,
And sealed me to God by the Holy Name.
Ere I was formed to the hands and feet,
Her prayers grew in me to force complete.
Ere I was fashioned to breast and brain,
She wove for their lines by her music-strain.
Ere I was wrought unto lips and eyes,
She kindled for lights of her sacrifice,
And charmed a spell for my infant breath,
Sweeter than kindness and stronger than death;
And, if I have toiled for the planet's joy,
To God the mother brought forth her boy.

By loves that kindle and words that burn;
By thoughts that well from life's deepest urn;
By tears that diffuse, all warm and wet,
Star-fire in fragrance of violet,
This sacred song of my sunset days
I consecrate to the MOTHER'S praise;—
For souls that hunger and hearts that ache,
A gift from the child of

Annie Lake.
