

THE CENTRALIZATION OF
ADMINISTRATION IN NEW
YORK STATE, PP. 415-620

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649152858

The centralization of administration in New York State, pp. 415-620 by John Archibald Fairlie

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

JOHN ARCHIBALD FAIRLIE

THE CENTRALIZATION OF
ADMINISTRATION IN NEW
YORK STATE, PP. 415-620

THE CENTRALIZATION OF ADMINISTRATION

IN

NEW YORK STATE

BY

JOHN ARCHIBALD FAIRLIE, A. M.

University Fellow in Administration

SUBMITTED IN PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS
FOR THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
IN THE
FACULTY OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

New York
1898

ha 12.14.65

TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER I

	PAGE
INTRODUCTION	II
The process of decentralization	11
Minimum of central control	12
Beginning of the reflex movement	12
Development of central organs of control	13
Direct State administration	14
Local centralization	15
Effects of urban development	16
Increased powers of city mayors	17
Purpose and outline of essay	20

CHAPTER II

PUBLIC EDUCATION

I. THE COMMON SCHOOL SYSTEM

1. The development of State aid and State control	22
First State appropriation, 1795	22
Organization of the common school system	23
Appellate jurisdiction of the State Superintendent, 1822	24
The County Superintendents, 1841-1847	26
Increased State grants	27
Department of Public Instruction established, 1854	28
District Commissioners, 1856	29
Additional powers to the State Superintendent	30
Teachers' Institutes and Normal Schools	30
Rapid development of school expenditure	31
Period of quiescence, 1868-1885	32
Recent increase of expenditure and central control	32
Summary	32

	PAGE
2. Local School Authorities	33
School districts and trustees	34
Union free school districts	35
School Commissioners	36
Cities: Boards of Education	38
3. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction	39
His position in general	39
Apportionment of State grants	39
Reports of local officers	40
Direction of School Commissioners	40
Appellate jurisdiction	41
Statutory powers and judicial decisions	41
Character of appeals and rulings	44
Advisory influence	48
Plans for school buildings	48
Outline course of study	48
Legislative control over studies	49
Supervision over enforcement of Truant Law	50
Control over the education and selection of teachers	52
Uniform teachers' examinations	52
Direction of Teachers' Institutes	53
Normal schools and training classes	54
Principles of State control	56
Results	57

II. THE UNIVERSITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

Origin of the Regents of the University	59
Incorporation of institutions	61
Distribution of State aid	64
Reports and Visitations	66
Academic examinations	68
Examination of professional and technical students	69
University Extension	72
Administrative Organization	73
Unification of the State educational bureaus	74

CHAPTER III

CHARITIES AND CORRECTION

	PAGE
1. Historical development of charity administration	78
The town system of relief	78
Transition to county administration, 1820-1830	80
State aid to special classes	81
State Board of Charities, 1867	84
Legislation of 1873	85
State Commission in Lunacy, 1889	86
State care of the insane consummated	87
The Estimate Law, 1894	87
Additional powers to the State Board of Charities	88
2. The State Insane Hospital system	91
Local management	91
The State Commission in Lunacy	92
Membership	92
Powers of inspection and recommendation	93
Rules and regulations	93
Approval of estimates for expenditures	94
Results of centralization	94
3. The State Board of Charities	97
Membership and organization	97
Supervision and control	99
Legal authority before 1894	99
Results accomplished	100
Improvement in county poor houses	101
Better management of local institutions	103
State institutions	104
Additional powers granted, 1894-1896	106
Department of Inspection	108
Approval of new incorporations	110
Direct Administration	110
The Superintendent of State and Alien Poor	111
General estimate of the extent of centralization]	112

	PAGE
4. The administration and supervision of penal institutions	114
Prison administration in the colonial period	114
The establishment of State prisons	115
Centralization of State prison management	116
The development of penitentiaries	117
The State Commission of Prisons established, 1895	118
The new system of convict labor	119
Supervision of county jails and penitentiaries	119
Additional authority conferred on the Commission, 1898	122

CHAPTER IV

PUBLIC HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

1. Historical sketch of health legislation	124
Early quarantine regulations	124
New York City Board of Health, 1796	125
Local boards of health, Acts of 1832 and 1850	126
The Metropolitan Sanitary District, 1866-1870	129
The State Board of Health, 1880	130
Increased powers given to the State Board	131
Summary	132
2. The State Board of Health	133
Organization	133
Advisory and educational influence	134
Reports and Vital Statistics	136
Approval of plans for sewage systems	137
Powers of positive control	138
Direct administration	139
3. The results of central supervision	141
The organization of local boards of health	141
Sanitary conditions in 1880	142
Improvement tested by mortality statistics	144
Decreased death rate from causes influenced by sanitary conditions	145
Relation of central supervision to this decrease	145

	PAGE
Further improvement possible	145
Increased supervision advocated	146

CHAPTER V

TAXATION AND LOCAL FINANCE

1. The evolution of decentralized tax administration	148
The Dutch period. Customs and Excises farmed	148
The direct administration of customs, 1664	149
Establishment of the county rate, 1664	149
Origin of the county supervisors, 1691	151
The general property tax as a province tax	151
Supervision by justices of the peace	153
Complete decentralization established	154
Legislative control over customs and excise	155
Excise revenue localized, and administration decentralized.	156
Customs assumed by the federal government	157
Brief period of central control in property tax administration, 1799-1801	158
Summary	159
2. The equalization of tax assessments	159
Undervaluation and unequal rates of assessment	159
Inequalities accentuated by increased taxation, 1850-1860.	160
The State Board of Equalization established	161
Its authority, methods and results	162
Complaints against equalizations	163
Irregularities and variations shown in the results	165
Undervaluation in personal property assessments	166
Increased central control proposed by Tax Commissions and State Assessors	167
The Tax Commissioners, 1896 ; their additional powers	168
Increased Assessments in 1897	169
New system of county equalizations	170
3. Administration of new State taxes	171
The Corporation Tax	172
Centralized, but with no subordinate force	172

	PAGE
Special commissioners appointed, 1892	173
Appeals from Comptroller's valuations	174
Comptroller's directory power over sheriffs	174
The Inheritance Tax	175
Local administration with no central control	175
Surrogates' reports to Comptroller	176
Provisions for re-appraisals	177
Comptroller's audit of appraisers' accounts	178
The Liquor Tax	178
Local boards of excise before 1896	179
The Liquor Tax Law of 1896	179
The State Excise Commissioner	180
Deputy commissioners and special agents	180
Administrative results of the new system	182
Central control sustained by courts	183
4. Central control over local finance	184
Audit of County Treasurer's accounts	184
Improved results secured by central control	185
Legislative control of city finances	186
Proposed administrative control	189

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION

Causes of centralizing tendencies	192
Changed economic conditions	193
General centralizing movement	196
Different grades of centralization	197
Administrative policy	197
Functions of central and local administration	198
Justification of central supervision	199
Forms and methods of central control	202
Purposes of administrative control	203
Different forms of central organs	205
Co-ordination of State bureaus	206