PREFACE.

The following notes to the Pharmacy Acts were originally written for my own use and guidance in dealing with questions arising upon certain sections of these statutes, and not with any view to publication. It is believed, however, that they substantially state the construction placed upon these sections of the Pharmacy Acts by the Courts, and that they are in no way influenced by the controversies which have arisen respecting the policy of the Acts. On the other hand, the observations contained in chapter IV, upon proposed legislation, can only be accepted as the expression of the author's personal opinion. Such opinion, therefore, will only be received upon its merits, by which it must stand or fall. The author's endeavour throughout has been to arrive at the true state of the law, and the real issues in dispute.

I here desire to acknowledge with gratitude my indebtedness to my learned friend, MR. HERBERT DU PARCQ, of the Middle Temple, for the preparation of the Index.
