The Author to the Publisher.

MY DEAR MR. RUSSELL, —

Being aware, as regards publication, that "IMOGEN" is not all that it could be, I have been tempted more than once to put it on the shelf, and wait patiently until my mind "had become more matured," as my well-wishers express it. But my curiosity to know how this little book would be received by a certain number of my acquaintances, and more especially by one or two of my dearest friends, — with whom, owing to the existing circumstances, it would be impossible for me to communicate, except indirectly through print, — has induced me to submit this work to your judgment.

As yet, I have only heard the advice of a few of my most intimate friends; and I here humbly apologize to the little circle for being so obstinate as not to have availed myself of their good counsel by waiting until my mind "had become more matured."

Yours very truly,

THE AUTHOR.
