PREFACE.

These writings have been collected from various sources, in order to preserve them in a permanent form, as a tribute to a very dear friend, who for many years shared all our joys and sorrows, and by his loving care and companionship made our lives sweeter and brighter.

The greater part of the religious articles were published in "The Index;" those on other subjects have been taken from sanitary journals, and reports of societies to which he belonged. The short notes were written for our friend's own satisfaction, with no thought of publication; but they manifest his spirit so truly that we feel we have done him no injustice by adding them to the collection.

A SHORT BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

OF

DR. CARL H. HORSCH

---

CARL HERRMANN HORSCH was born July 23, 1822, in the small, pleasant village of Eythra, six miles from Leipzig, Saxony. He was one of a family of five, — three girls and two boys, — who, although widely separated in early youth, remained devotedly attached to each other through life. Of these, only his brother Ernst, long a resident of Russia, survives him. His parents, Johann Gottfried and Christiana Friedericke Horsch, were persons of very superior character, who, owing to sickness and misfortune, were in extremely moderate circumstances. His early life was one of toil and hardship, and he was obliged to work his own way upward through the world.

Fortunately, the village schoolmaster, Johann Christoph Leuschner, was a man of
