SECTION I.

JESUS, THE CHRIST, THE INCARNATE SON OF GOD, OF THE OLD TESTAMENT PROPHECIES.

CHAPTER I.

The Prophecy Argument. The Prophets, and their Extant Writings. Heterodox Jews of the Middle Ages, and Modern Rationalists of the School of Wegscheider on the Old Testament Predictions and the Messiah. The Existence in the Old Testament of Ancient, and Genuine Messianic Predictions, Illustrated by Five, Clear, and Definite Statements concerning the Future, Personal Christ.

CHAPTER II.

The Implications of God-Man Messiahship in the Predictions studied in the Preceding Chapter, conjoined with the Explicit Assertion in Psalm II, 7, of the Natural, Divine Filiation of the Christ. Rejection of Supposed Traditional Worth of the Teaching on the Royal, Man-Messiah in Vogue in the Temple in the Time of Jesus. Why the Orthodox Jews, and the Conservative Protestants of the Present Day should admit that the Divine Sonship of the Messiah is the Sole Principle of the Correlation of the Messianic Predictions in the Canon of Esdras.

CHAPTER III.

Modern Biblical Critics on the Messiahship of Jesus. The "Messianic Secret." The "Eschatological Messiahship." The "Messianic Consciousness." The Admission that Jesus called Himself the God-Man Messiah. The True Meaning of His Messianic Declarations in the Gospels, as they stand in the Bible. Fact and Worth of the Testimony of the Writers of the New Testament on the Fulfillment of the Messianic Predictions of the Old Testament in Jesus. The Evidence afforded by those Writers of the Fulfillment in Him of the Six Predictions previously considered. How the Fulfillment in Jesus of these Six Predictions demonstrates their Supernatural Character. Why their Supernatural Character demonstrates the Divine Sonship of Jesus, the Messiah.

SECTION II.

JESUS OF THE GOSPELS THE INCARNATE SON OF GOD.

CHAPTER I.

The Gospel Argument. Preliminary Review of the Various Kinds of Attacks upon the Historical Value of the Gospel Life of Jesus. The Most Dangerous of all Attacks upon Gospel Truth. The Attitude of Rationalistic "Higher Criticism" towards the Authenticity of the Declarations of Jesus of the Gospels about His Own Identity. The Apparent Defence of the Testimony of the "Historical Jesus" of the Synoptic Gospels against the Declarations attributed to Jesus in the Fourth Gospel. The subsequently manifested Attempt to curtail the Statements of Jesus of the Canonical Synoptic Gospels. The Authorship and the Worth of the Four Gospels Vindicated by Sound Criticism.

CHAPTER II.

First Point—The Testimony of the Church, the Decisive Proof that Jesus of the Gospels is the truly Historical Jesus. The Gospels a Portion of the Written Archives of the Church. The Church the Sole, Authentic Interpreter of the Declarations of Jesus. Faith, Church, and Gospels.

Second Point—The Divine Sanction of the Truth of Christ's Self-Revelation. The Prophecies of Jesus. The Inferences from the Fact of the Fulfillment of those Prophecies. The Miracles of Jesus. The Transfiguration. The Raising of Lazarus from the Dead. The Resurrection. The Extraordinary Deeds of Jesus, collectively considered, evince themselves to be Miraculous. The Exercise of Supernatural Power in the Name of the Father, and as Mouthpiece of God.

Third Point—Jesus of the Gospels, the truly Historical, and the divinely attested Jesus, declared His Divine Sonship directly, and, as it were, independently of His Messiahship. The Catholic Sense of Five Formal Declarations of Divine Sonship vindicated against "Higher Criticism" and "Modernism." The Supreme Self-Revelation. Practical Demonstrations by Jesus of the Precise Meaning of His Declarations of Divine Sonship. Recapitulation, and Conclusion.

PREFACE

This work undertakes to illustrate the fact of the Divine Sonship of Jesus. The reason for its appearance is the apparent need for a logical, and serviceable compendium in English, utilizing pertinent, scientific, catholic works in foreign languages in the demonstration of the Divine Sonship of Jesus, as well as critically discussing the original sources of those Jewish, or Gentile errors against the identity of Christ, which have had renown in their day. Of course, the theories of Harnack, and of Loisy about Jesus "the Christ, the Son of God" must receive most attention at the present time. These men are undoubtedly profound in their misguided scholarship. They display the greatest respect for the sublime character and mission of Jesus. Their treatment of His declarations of Messiahship and Divine Sonship is exhaustive, dignified in tone, and harmonious in expression. They exert themselves to the utmost to understand, and to portray the filial consciousness in Jesus of unique proximity to God, His Father. Nevertheless, as they themselves frankly confess, their mental horizon excludes the divinely inspired Messianic Predictions as impossible, and the divinely revealed incarnation of the "Logos" as incredible.

In accordance with its aim, and scope, this work is divided into two sections, which, however, in fact, and by necessity, dovetail into one another. The first section strives to show why and how the fulfillment in Jesus of the historically verifiable parts of the Messianic Predictions of the Old Testament necessarily implies in Him the God-Man Messiahship. The full texts of the Messianic Predictions being found ancient, au-
