

THE MODERN PULPIT
VIEWED IN ITS RELATION
TO THE STATE OF SOCIETY

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649650965

The Modern Pulpit Viewed in Its Relation to the State of Society by Robert Vaughan

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

ROBERT VAUGHAN

THE MODERN PULPIT
VIEWED IN ITS RELATION
TO THE STATE OF SOCIETY

BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

TO BE HAD OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

THE LIFE AND OPINIONS OF JOHN DE WYCLIFFE, D.D., illustrated principally from his unpublished Manuscripts, with a Preliminary View of the Papal System, and of the state of the Protestant Doctrine in Europe, to the commencement of the Fourteenth Century. With a finely engraved Portrait, by E. H. FRYDEN, from the original Picture by Sir ANTONIO MOSE, now an heir-loom to the Rectory of Wycliffe, Richmondshire. The Second Edition, improved. 2 vols. 8vo. 1l 1s.

"All these (preceding) biographers have their own share of merit; but the strenuous and well-directed labours of Mr. Vaughan are such as entitle him to a very decided pre-eminence. In this age of flippant and flimsy compilations, it is highly gratifying to meet with something that reminds us of better times; to meet with a book which at once relates to a subject of real importance, and is prepared with a due mixture of ardent perseverance and judicious deliberation."—Edinburgh Review, October, 1832.

"There seems to be no repository of ancient literature in the empire which has escaped the industry of Mr. Vaughan. I have found his work a most valuable guide."—Professor Le Bas—Preface to the Life of Wiclif in Rivington's Theological Library.

"Vaughan and Le Bas, both of whose works I like."—Coleridge: Table Talk, 2nd ed. vol. ii. p. 182.

THE CAUSES OF THE CORRUPTION OF CHRISTIANITY. THE CONGREGATIONAL LECTURE FOR 1834. 1 vol. 8vo. 10s. 6d.

"Mr. Vaughan has brought to his undertaking the knowledge of the historian, the learning of the divine, and the spirit of the philosopher."—Spectator.

"The examination of the effects produced on Christianity by the influence of Gentile philosophy, is equally remarkable for learning and discrimination."—Athenæum.

RELIGIOUS PARTIES IN ENGLAND: their Principles, History, and Present Duty. 8vo. 5s.

"A searching view, and philosophical estimate, of the characteristics of religion and religious parties at the present day."—Spectator.

"The ingenious youth of our community will find in this book a most instructive survey of the ecclesiastical history of their country, treated with consummate judgment, the fruit of deep research, and calm philosophical discernment and reflection."—Congregational Magazine.

"In this admirable publication there is a rare mixture of philosophical calmness with religious earnestness. The impartiality of the witness is united with the warmth of the disciple."—Leeds Mercury.

"Professor Vaughan's views of the state of parties is able and temperate."—Athenæum.

"A more masterly, faithful, philosophical, dispassionate review, in so condensed a form, we never heard or read."—Patriot.

THE MODERN PULPIT

VIEWED IN ITS RELATION TO

THE STATE OF SOCIETY.

BY

ROBERT VAUGHAN, D.D.

LONDON:
JACKSON AND WALFORD,
18, ST. PAUL'S CHURCH-YARD.
1842.

802.

CONTENTS.

---

	PAGE
PREFACE . . . . .	vii
CHAPTER I.
On the Office of Preaching, and on the Place assigned to it in the New Testament . . . . .	1
CHAPTER II.
On the General Characteristics of Modern Society . . . . .	8
CHAPTER III.
On the Manual-Labour Classes, and on the Pulpit in its re- lation to them . . . . .	12
CHAPTER IV.
On the Middle Classes, and on the Pulpit in its relation to them . . . . .	36
CHAPTER V.
On the Higher Classes, and on the Pulpit in its relation to them . . . . .	46
CHAPTER VI.
On the Modern Pulpit in its relation to the Past . . . . .	67

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER VII.		PAGE
On a Self-educated Ministry . . . . .		144
CHAPTER VIII.
On the value of a good Elocution, and on the Means of at- taining it . . . . .		152
CHAPTER IX.
On Divine Influence, in its relation to the Success of the Gospel . . . . .		171
CHAPTER X.
On the Scriptural Connexion between Personal Religion and the Ministerial Office . . . . .		177
CHAPTER XI.
On the Duty of Churches in relation to the Christian Ministry . . . . .		188
CHAPTER XII.
On some points of Caution necessary to Preachers and Hearers . . . . .		198

PREFACE.

---

THE late George Storer Mansfield, Esq., who resided many years near Derby, accumulated considerable property, which, in purpose, he bequeathed to his two sisters, Mrs. Glover, and Miss Mansfield. These ladies were more concerned to see their brother a man of piety, than to become possessed of his wealth. They agreed to offer the prayer of faith in his behalf, and that prayer they lived to see fully answered, so that the practical disregard of religion, which they had long deplored in their relative, was followed by a habit of enlightened and fervent devotedness to the service of God. Soon after this change, Mr. Mansfield, with the cheerful concurrence of his sisters, appropriated the whole of his estates, and some other property, to establish a college, in which young men of piety and talent might receive education preparatory to the Christian ministry. To the munificent