To the Massachusetts Board of Education:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—The number of pupils enrolled in the Clarke School for the year 1914-15 was one hundred and fifty-eight. Of these, one hundred and twenty-three were from Massachusetts. There were six pupils from the State of New Hampshire. Twenty-nine pupils from other states were also here instructed. Six pupils received diplomas on June 9th when the graduating exercises were held. An interesting address on this occasion was delivered by Professor John M. Tyler, of Amherst College, on the subject of "Work and Play." Eight Normal pupils also received diplomas at that time. The exercises in the Gilmore Gymnasium were followed by a reception in Rogers Hall.

It has been a year of serious losses for the School. On October 27, 1914, George Franklin Mills, Dean of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, who had been a corporator since 1896, was removed by death. During all the earlier years of his relation to the School, he was a very efficient member of the Executive Committee, coming over from his home in Amherst, and giving his time and thought freely to the details of management. He had, since his graduation from college, been concerned with educational work, and his strict integrity, wise discernment, and broad sympathy, combined with his large experience, fitted him admirably for great usefulness
