

OBSERVATIONS
BY MR. DOOLEY

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649659968

Observations by Mr. Dooley by Finley Peter Dunne

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

FINLEY PETER DUNNE

OBSERVATIONS
BY MR. DOOLEY

MR. DOOLEY'S PHILOSOPHY

Crown 8vo., Cloth, Price 3s. 6d.

The Athenæum.—"Dooley hits as hard as ever, and here is at his best for English readers, quite in the centre of questions of the day. He shares with Mark Twain the effective gift of calm exaggeration, and he is never afraid of leaving a joke to explain itself."

The Globe.—"Of this new collection of papers, 'Mr. Dooley's Philosophy,' it can happily be said that it quite maintains the reputation of the humorist."

The Speaker.—"Mr. Dooley's views of the South African Question are those of a sane, disinterested observer, and worth more attention than most of those which have appeared in this country."

The St. James's Gazette.—"As full of characteristic Dooleyism, both of satire and of humour, as anything we have had from his pen."

The Daily Chronicle.—"It has all the satirical insight of its predecessors. The normal working of the American party machine supplies Mr. Dooley with endless opportunities for a frankness which is entirely unrestrained by any false patriotism. When he looks abroad he is equally candid and incisive. Shrewd common-sense plays on every page."

The Scotsman.—"There is no keener eye for the weak points of latter-day civilization than Mr. Dooley's. These short, pithy little dialogues are always amusing and often brilliant."

The Spectator.—"From one severe ordeal he emerges with distinction—he bears re-reading. He is in the main a wonderfully shrewd critic of tendencies, movements, and national traits."

The Manchester Guardian.—"Mr. Dooley's remarks on the course of the war, on our trick of underestimating the enemy, and on the rival ways of fighting, are first-rate both in humour and in sense."

The Sunday Special.—"There is much that is amusing, and at the same time many shrewd truths are uttered. Mr. Dooley lays about him indiscriminately, and, if he sometimes says things that are not altogether flattering to English readers, he at least is not a whit less severe upon his own countrymen."

The Daily Express.—"What can the poor reviewer do in the face of so many good things? Nothing save recommend his readers to buy the book."

LONDON: WILLIAM HEINEMANN, 21 BEDFORD STREET, W.C.

MR. DOOLEY'S OPINIONS

Punch.—"For every new 'Dooley Book,' as is this of 'Mr. Dooley's Opinions,' we are all Dooley thankful."

The Athenæum.—"As shrewd as ever, and not so crude as they have occasionally been. We welcome Mr. Dooley, who speaks freely on his own country and ours, and is not a specialist in prejudice."

The Academy.—"When the music of Mr. Dooley's brogue first struck upon our ears there were many persons who said that he would soon pall, that he could not keep it up. But Mr. Dooley still continues, gaining, if anything, in vigour and frankness. This book is superbly intelligent. There is enough wit in it to stock a score of ordinary humorists. If satire were really read, as smug theology is read, for example, or the football edition, Mr. Dooley's chapter on 'Disqualifying the Enemy' would have reddened every cheek between Land's End and John o' Groats."

The Spectator.—"The Sage of Archey Road shows no signs of senility; his satire is as mordant, his imagination as riotously exuberant as ever. The paper on 'Christian Science' is not only amazingly witty, but wonderfully shrewd."

The Daily Chronicle.—"Still another volume of Mr. Dooley is very welcome, for it shows no lack of freshness in this philosopher. Prosperity has mellowed Mr. Dooley. He is more of the humorist and less of the satirist. He was full of ferocious gibes at one time; now he gives place to rollicking fun."

The Daily News.—"Mr. Dooley is invariably worth attention, and his quaint and witty way of looking at public questions is always amusing."

The Pall Mall Gazette.—"Characteristically caustic and delightful."

LONDON: WILLIAM HEINEMANN, 21 BEDFORD STREET, W.C.

OBSERVATIONS BY MR. DOOLEY

BY THE SAME AUTHOR

Crown 8vo. Price 3s. 6d. each

MR. DOOLEY'S
PHILOSOPHY

With Coloured Frontispiece by WILLIAM NICHOLSON

And Illustrations by E. W. KEMBLE and F. OYER

MR. DOOLEY'S
OPINIONS

LONDON : WILLIAM HEINEMANN
25, BEDFORD STREET, W.C.

C. K. OGDEN

OBSERVATIONS
BY MR. DOOLEY

LONDON
WILLIAM HEINEMANN

1903

6161
191

CONTENTS

	Page
A Little Essay on Books	1
The Law's Delays	13
Sherlock Holmes	21
International Amenities	31
Art Patronage	39
Immigration	47
White House Discipline	55
Money and Matrimony	63
Prince Henry's Visit	71
Prince Henry's Reception	81
Cuba vs. Beet Sugar	89
Bad Men from the West	95
European Intervention	105
The Philippine Peace	113
Soldier and Policeman	121
King Edward's Coronation	131
One Advantage of Poverty	139
The Fighting Word	147

Contents

	Page
Home Life of Geniuses	155
Reform Administration	165
Work and Sport	173
The News of a Week	181
The End of the War	189
Newport	197
Arctic Exploration	203
Machinery	211
Swearing	221
The War Game	229
Newspaper Publicity	237
Adventure	245
Rights and Privileges of Women	251
Avarice and Generosity	255
The End of Things	261
Hypocrisy	265
History	269
Enjoyment	273
Gratitude	277