I am greatly indebted to Mr. Henry Crofton and Mr. Philip Norman for their kindness in reading the proof-sheets of the sections of my book which refer to the Gypsies and to Civic Pageants. For similar help in proof-reading I likewise offer grateful thanks to Lady Ritchie and Mr. Frederick

Greenwood. To the courtesy of the authorities of the Bodleian Library I owe my acquaintance with the Civil War tract on Prince Rupert's dog, Boy ; and I take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to the authorities of the London Library for help in regard to the use of their books. Among my acknowledgments I wish to include thanks to the printers for their very skilful manipulation of a troublesome manuscript.
