EDWARD AND ALFRED'S

TOUR.

EDWARD AND ALFRED'S
TOUR IN FRANCE AND SWITZERLAND,
IN THE YEAR 1824.

BY THE AUTHOR OF
TALES OF BOYS AS THEY ARE.

IN TWO VOLUMES.
VOL. I.

LONDON:
PRINTED FOR BALDWIN, CRADOCK, AND JOY,
PATERNOSTER-ROW.

1826.

PREFACE.

THE following pages, as well as the work entitled "BOYS AS THEY ARE," were written for the amusement and instruction of the little heroes of these volumes ; and as they have, for those purposes, been found useful, they are now published, in the hope of extending their utility.

Even fictitious travels are generally interesting to children : if real, and performed by persons of their own age, may they not be likely to be more so ?

That the present tour was actually made, and that the most striking incidents are facts, it is therefore supposed will be the most interesting information that young readers can receive.

Descriptions of countries, and historical facts, are, to youth, doubly valuable; every unknown truth being a novelty, becomes as amusing as fiction, and when reheard in after life, they again charm by exciting the pleasures of memory.

The historical anecdotes that are introduced are from the best authorities.
