

A GREATHEART OF THE SOUTH: JOHN
T. ANDERSON,
MEDICAL MISSIONARY

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649501991

A Greatheart of the South: John T. Anderson, Medical Missionary by Gordon Poteat

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

GORDON POTEAT

A GREATHEART OF THE
SOUTH: JOHN
T. ANDERSON,
MEDICAL MISSIONARY

A GREATHEART OF THE SOUTH

JOHN T. ANDERSON, M.D.

A GREATHEART OF THE SOUTH

JOHN T. ANDERSON
MEDICAL MISSIONARY

BY

GORDON POTEAT

PROFESSOR OF NEW TESTAMENT
SHANGHAI BAPTIST COLLEGE

"The Interpreter then called for a Man-Servant of his, one Great-heart."
PILGRIM'S PROGRESS.

NEW YORK
GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY

COPYRIGHT, 1961,
BY GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY

PRINTED IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

THE assistance which others have given, particularly in the supplying of letters and incidents which were unknown to me, and their urging me to the writing of this memoir have in large measure contributed to the completion of this book. They, as well as I, came under the influence of John Anderson's short life. So many have written since his passing, "He was the best friend I ever had." None of us would dare claim to have been John's best friend, but all of us drew heavily upon his unflinching love and friendship. John Anderson's endowment was not one of rich intellectual gifts. His superiority to the common run of men lay rather in the unreserve of his giving of his life and love and service to others. This book is no eulogy—John Anderson never wanted praise. The record of his deeds speaks for itself. I must acknowledge specially the help that John's companion, Mrs. Minnie Middleton Anderson, and his father and mother, and close friends, L. M. Terrill, H. J. Langston and L. W. Langston, have given me. The use of several verses from the poem "Tamate," by John Oxenham, at the close of the last chapter is also acknowledged.

GORDON POTEAT.

November, 1920.

132T 160/21

The first of these was the fact that the United States had won the war. The second was the fact that the United States had emerged as the world's leading power. The third was the fact that the United States had become a superpower. The fourth was the fact that the United States had become a global leader. The fifth was the fact that the United States had become a global power. The sixth was the fact that the United States had become a global force. The seventh was the fact that the United States had become a global presence. The eighth was the fact that the United States had become a global influence. The ninth was the fact that the United States had become a global impact. The tenth was the fact that the United States had become a global legacy.

The first of these was the fact that the United States had won the war. The second was the fact that the United States had emerged as the world's leading power. The third was the fact that the United States had become a superpower. The fourth was the fact that the United States had become a global leader. The fifth was the fact that the United States had become a global power. The sixth was the fact that the United States had become a global force. The seventh was the fact that the United States had become a global presence. The eighth was the fact that the United States had become a global influence. The ninth was the fact that the United States had become a global impact. The tenth was the fact that the United States had become a global legacy.

The first of these was the fact that the United States had won the war. The second was the fact that the United States had emerged as the world's leading power. The third was the fact that the United States had become a superpower. The fourth was the fact that the United States had become a global leader. The fifth was the fact that the United States had become a global power. The sixth was the fact that the United States had become a global force. The seventh was the fact that the United States had become a global presence. The eighth was the fact that the United States had become a global influence. The ninth was the fact that the United States had become a global impact. The tenth was the fact that the United States had become a global legacy.

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
I THE YANG TZE RIVER	11
II EARLY INDICATIONS OF CHARACTER	19
III AT FURMAN	27
IV BEGINNING THE STUDY OF MEDICINE	37
V THE FIRST YEAR IN KENTUCKY	51
VI THE LAST YEAR IN THE UNIVERSITY	63
VII A HOSPITAL INTERNE	79
VIII INTO THE FAR EAST	93
IX YANG CHOW AND BEYOND	109