THE following Journals were kept by my Mother when she was only eight years old. I thought it might interest and please my children to see what a clever and precocious little Grandmother they had. And it is with that end in view that I have had them printed. Nothing has been changed or altered. I have not corrected a mistake in writing or spelling, a wrong construction or an erroneous statement. The little Journals are reproduced exactly as my Mother wrote them sixty long years ago. The name and date in the second Journal are in her Mother's writing; everything else in the book is from her own pen. She was born in October, 1847, and the first Journal begins as follows.
